The Rev. Jami Anderson

Retired Priest, Holy Trinity, Thermopolis
Foundation Board Member

I am the Rev. Jami Anderson residing in Thermopolis, Wyoming and attending Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. I have lived and worked in the Diocese of Wyoming for 13 years, although I am now in a retirement period of life. For me, The Foundation for the Episcopal Church in Wyoming is an amazing gift to this diocese and I would be honored to serve on its Board. Prior to entering into ordained ministries my employment was as the Grants Director for 8 ½ years at a Community Action Agency in Nebraska. I loved that job and have experiences on both sides of the granting process- the writing of the proposals to receive funding and on committees making decisions as to which projects would receive funding. I think that knowledge would be a strength for the grants process within the Foundation's responsibilities. For over 12 years I served as a rural rector in churches both in Wyoming and Nebraska and have insight into the inner workings and needs of small and large parishes. And as someone officially "retired" I have time and energy to devote to being an active member on the Foundation Board of Directors. I am truly interested in serving in this position. Thank you for your consideration and potential vote!
